Dear Mr. Casey:

You are cordially invited to join a select group of government executives on Thursday, October 31, 1985, for an executive briefing on the American Management Associations...

STRATEGIC TEAM PLANNING PROCESS

The AMA Team Planning Process is a team approach to planning that is being used with great success by more than 800 organizations in government, business, industry, and the not-for-profit sector. AMA has assisted many government organizations in team planning, including the Army Corps of Engineers, Bureau of Mines, Merit Systems Protection Board, the Army Academy of Health Services, Drug Enforcement Administration, Nuclear Regulatory Commission and recently the Small Business Administration. Join us to see how this approach will work for your organization.

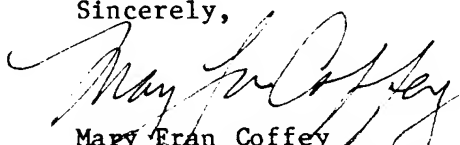

The briefing is being held to introduce the AMA Team Planning Process to government executives who have expressed an interest in practical methods of planning and control for the government in today's conditions. See how AMA's Team Planning Process can produce a better climate for success and...

- ...implement your objectives throughout the organization.
- ...improve your organization's performance in the face of uncertainty.
- ...strengthen your organization's ability to compete for limited resources and allocate your resources most effectively.

If you are considering formal planning, if your present program is not producing the results you want, or if you would like to know how other organizations like yours are planning, plan to attend. The briefing will be held at the AMA Washington Management Center, 440 First Street N.W., Washington, D.C. Continental Breakfast is at 8:30 a.m.; briefing starts promptly at 9:00 a.m. and will end by 11:30 a.m. To reserve your place, complete and return the enclosed RSVP form, or call me at 683-5441.

We look forward to seeing you there.

Sincerely,

Mary Fran Coffey

Executive Director:

Chude,

The American Management Associations (AMA) invited the DCI to attend an executive briefing on strategic planning Friday, 25 May, breakfast at 8:30 a.m., briefing at 9:00 a.m., Washington Management Center, 440 First Street N.W., Washington, D.C. Since the DCI will be out of town and the invitation is transferable, are you interested in attending? The Senior Advisor at AID, Assistant Secretary for Education, and Director of the Office of Management at HUD will be the level of attendees. If your schedule is full, perhaps a senior officer of the IC staff would wish to attend. Mr. Jack Kelly, Director of the AMA's Center for Planning and Implementation, will brief government executives in practical methods of planning and control for the government in today's conditions. The AMA Strategic Planning Process is a team approach to planning that is being used with great success by more than 700 organizations in government, business, industry, and the non-profit sector. Attached is further information on the AMA. Please let me know if you wish to accept or decline.
